HISTORIC 1930 CHENEY HIGH SCHOOL ● 520 FOURTH STREET, CHENEY, WA

87 years ago in January 1930, school teachers, faculty members and 226 students moved into Cheney, Washington's then-new public Cheney High School. The school building is located across the street from the southern fringe of Eastern Washington University's campus.

Designed as a large brick school building with three stories, elaborately shaped parapets, decorative terra cotta embellishment, Gothic-arched front doors and more than 50,000 square feet of finished interior space, the 1930 Cheney High School is preserved as a fine building influenced by the Collegiate Gothic style. It is prominent as the work of Spokane Master Architect George Rasque.

When construction of the new high school was completed in 1930, the school building had 12 classrooms wired for radio (high-tech for that time), and boasted the finest modern equipment for home economics, manual arts and science laboratories. Hallway floors were made of terrazzo marble, and metal school lockers lined hallway walls. The third floor housed a 750-seat auditorium with 500 additional seats located in an open adjacent room.

On the ground floor, a gymnasium with innovative folding bleachers offered seating for 1,000 spectators. The new high school's gymnasium was tested and inaugurated on January 7, 1930 with a basketball game against Davenport High School; Cheney defeated Davenport 18-14 in front of a crowd of 600.

Today, the 1930 Cheney High School building lives on during a multi-million-dollar adaptive-reuse rehabilitation from a public school to student housing for Eastern Washington University. The exterior of the building will be carefully preserved while interior classrooms will be sensitively converted to 36 state-of-the-art apartments of different sizes on the school's three floors.

In 2016, Cheney High School was recognized as a historic landmark when it was placed on the Cheney Register of Historic Places for its strong historic significance in the City of Cheney and for its exterior architectural significance.

MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

PLANNING AHEAD ● It is hard to believe we soon will be experiencing fall temperatures after our hot streak this year. But, our board and committees are busily working on all of our events and activities associated with the upcoming seasons. Some of our SPA members and staff attended a nonprofit training in which it was advised that event planning begin a year ahead of time. Consequently, some of you may be called on a little earlier than usual to get a jump start. Our annual Pints for Preservation, held in the summer, will begin work soon, so members of that committee can expect a call as we plan the 2018 event. Your ideas for venues/areas are always welcomed!

THE HISTORIC HOME TOUR ● The annual tour is set for Sunday, October 1, 2017 ~ always a great intro to fall.

THE EXPO BUTTERFLIES ● Our board is considering a proposal to assist "Save the Expo Butterflies!" with a restoration project for Riverfront Park for which funding is needed, brought to us through the Advocacy Committee. There will be more on that soon as we work on details and a mutual agreement.

DOING IT! COMMITTEE ● Our Doing It! Committee needs projects. If you know of efforts in the area for businesses or residences to preserve their property, notify Jennifer Fees (quiltmom3@yahoo.com) or Kelly Lordan (kellylordan@hotmail.com).

Also, spread the word that SPA is here to help! Both rural and urban projects, are encouraged as well as residential, commercial or even land cleanup and prep. This committee provides a working crew of volunteers to help with projects in the community.

This year's "Raise the Paddle" fundraiser was so successful in building our Advocacy Emergency Fund, we hope to be as successful with it again next year. If you know of an effort that SPA could support, a fund we might build or other creative ideas, please share them.

A GREAT RESOURCE ● SPA is a great resource to the community and its members. Did you know we are building quite a library of resource materials in the SPA office? Are you looking for help on a specific topic? Do you have a book to donate to the collection?

THANK YOU ● Thank you for all that you do, and please review SPA's calendar to consider others you might invite or accompany to our activities. We have a broad base of supporters, but we know there are more out there who care about what we do and what we share. Enjoy the rest of the summer!

SPA'S 18TH ANNUAL 2017 TOUR OF HISTORIC HOMES

PRESENTING THE TOUR ● This year Spokane Preservation Advocates is happy to present its 18th Annual Historic Home Tour, featuring a selected group of historic homes in the Cannon Hill Park neighborhood.

ARTHUR D. JONES & COMPANY ● Prominent Spokane real estate developer Arthur D. Jones & Company built the residential Cannon Hill Park neighborhood around Cannon Hill Park, a public pond and parkland celebrated as the neighborhood's focal point.

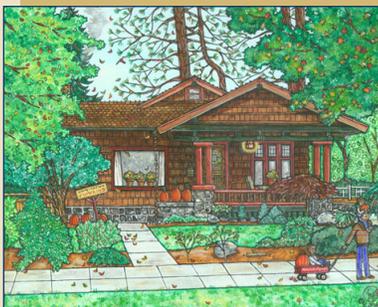

CANNON HILL PARK & MORE ● The park was designed by the nationally acclaimed Olmsted Brothers Landscape Architecture firm. The firm was first famous for the design and creation of New York City's Central Park. In Spokane, Arthur D. Jones & Company platted and planned the Cannon Hill Park neighborhood, furnished fresh drinking water via underground pipes, graded and paved roads and sidewalks, and planted hundreds of street trees with a specific neighborhood block of contiguous, uniquely barked Sycamore Maple trees along 24th Avenue between Bernard and Howard Streets.

$500-$2,500 ● The mature trees tower more than 100 feet over the street, producing a filtered canopy that shades and protects single-family homes. The lots for the homes were sold from $500 to $2,500 to various builders, architects, real estate investors and landowners who constructed an interesting kaleidoscope of homes in various shapes, sizes and architectural styles.

1900-1940 ● Cannon Hill Park and the surrounding neighborhood convey park designs, residential building practices and architectural styles popular from 1900 to 1940, reflecting careful stewardship and the neighborhood's ongoing commitment to preservation.

WEST 24TH AVENUE ● West 24th in the Cannon Hill Park neighborhood continues to be one of Spokane's most coveted streets and desirable places to live. SPA invites you to visit and enjoy this street and its beautiful homes in the Cannon Hill Park neighborhood - making some long-lasting memories!

ADVOCACY COMMITTEE UPDATE

With an upsurge in the economy comes an upsurge in building, and this is a busy time for Spokane. There have been many happy events with upgrades to downtown buildings, making them shine bright with some of their former glory.

THE HUTTON BUILDING ● One such building is the Hutton Building which was purchased by Spokane Teachers Credit Union (STCU). SPA promoted preserving Spokane's historic heritage for the economic, cultural and environmental benefits. STCU repurposed the historic Hutton Building for their administrative offices.

On June 24th, the May Hutton branch of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented a plaque to STCU in honor of its contribution to downtown. A reception followed and the participants were invited to tour the building ~ especially a room of the former Hutton apartment on the fourth floor. Floors 5-7 were added after the original building was constructed. Along with STCU, there are several businesses occupying the building.

THE JENSEN-BYRD BUILDING ● On the other hand there seems to be cause for concern with regard to the Jensen-Byrd Building (J-B) at WSU Spokane. WSU halted negotiations with the development company, Jensen-Byrd Development LLC that had plans to repurpose the J-B Building and properties nearby. There had been plans to start a $45 million reconstruction project this year. According to WSU's Stacy Pearson, VP of Finance & Administration, based in Pullman, WSU is rethinking the master plan for WSU Spokane. She also linked this change in direction with the success and support of the new Elson S. Floyd College of Medicine. This abrupt change in direction may not bode well for the redevelopment of the J-B Building.

OTHER CONCERNS ● On a sadder note, several smaller historic homes were demolished in the name of expansion and progress. The Craftsman homes at 32nd and Grand were demolished with what seemed like lightning speed to make way for a Washington Trust Bank expansion. A turn-of-the-century home used by Gonzaga as Music Annex II was demolished to make way for parking. Perhaps these homes could have been saved with more time to negotiate a different scenario such as moving them from their existing location to an empty lot nearby. This highlights the need for a stronger demolition ordinance for the city's historic properties. City Council Member Lori Kinnear is spearheading a rewrite of the existing ordinance, and soon she will be inviting stakeholders to comment. Sadly none of the bungalows were registered as historic landmarks. Even the designation would not necessarily save the homes, but it would allow for more time for discussion between application for a demolition permit and demolition.

THE CHALLENGE ● How can we best protect and/or repurpose the historic buildings we have left in Spokane and protect individual ownership/property rights?

● BARBARA CLAPP • Advocacy Committee Chair

UPDATE ● FROM THE HISTORIC PRESERVATION OFFICE

The Spokane Historic Landmarks Commission took July off from meeting to enjoy a summer vacation. Even so, we have been busy listing properties and conducting design reviews throughout spring and summer.

NEW LISTINGS ● Early in the year, we listed the Trogdon House at 1918 South Syringa ~ a Mid-century Modern house that was designed and built by Bill and Dorothy Trogdon as their family home in 1963. In April, we listed the Trade Winds Motel at 907 West Third. The Trade Winds was designed by Donald Neraas, built in 1962 and is another modern building with International Style influences. The motel is undergoing a complete rehabilitation and will re-emerge as a Baymont Inn very soon. We also listed the Spokane Continental Bakery Building on the corner of Broadway and Lincoln – a warehouse designed by Albert Held and first constructed in 1917 with additions in 1920, 1947 and 1956. The building is set to be completely rehabbed in the next year and a half including the reconstruction of a second story on the western half of the building, and modern additions on the rooftop that will take advantage of the views of the river and Riverfront Park.

MCKINLEY SCHOOL AND MORE ● We will be reviewing nominations at our August 16th meeting for the McKinley School at 117 North Napa. McKinley was built in 1902 and enlarged just a year later to serve elementary school students in the East Central Neighborhood. The school closed in 1962 and was sold to a private owner soon after. The building has served as the headquarters of Spokane Transfer until recently. The building is currently being rehabilitated. Finally, we are reviewing a wonderful Arts and Crafts home called the Paine House at 2509 West Summit Blvd. The Paine House was designed by Master Architect, WW Hyslop in 1905 for Waldo Paine, a Spokane civic, business and railway transportation leader during the zenith of his career and most-productive period of his life.

BROWNE'S ADDITION ● The Historic Preservation Office was delighted to receive a $17,000 grant from the state's Department of Archaeology and Historic Preservation to create a local historic district in Browne's Addition as well as design guidelines for the district. We look forward to putting out a Request for Proposals in the next month and having an historic preservation consultant hit the ground running on October 1st. The HPO intern from EWU, Katie Enders, has been hard at work this summer photographing all of the buildings within Browne's Addition and adding them to the state's WISAARD database.

Two recent new listings ● (Top) the Mid-Century Modern Trogdon family house on South Syringa (1963) and (Bottom) The Tradewinds Motel on West Third Avenue (1962)

DEMOLITION ORDINANCE REVISION ● Finally, Councilmember Lori Kinnear has led the charge on a demolition ordinance revision that is currently out for public comment and review. This proposed ordinance would amend the historic preservation ordinance to create a more thorough process, and place greater restrictions on demolition of historic buildings and buildings in historic districts. Of equal importance, it provides greater incentives to preserve historic structures. The ordinance also allows the Spokane Historic Landmarks Commission to review new construction that replaces demolished historic buildings ~ the current ordinance allows property owners to demolish historic structures as long as there is a replacement building, even though there is no review of the design. If you are interested in reviewing the ordinance, please contact Councilmember Kinnear's office.
